-RESEEDING AMERICA-

Missionaries to New England

Tenth Edition – October 2026

To Our Fellow Laborers in Christ,

Overview. This past month, God has blessed us in our extensive travels, in sickness, and in need of support, both of prayer and financial. We were able to meet many new people, make contacts hopefully for more meetings in the coming year, and be a blessing to many of the churches we were able to visit. Much happened this month, and we're excited.

New England. To start, we wrapped up our New England trip, which was abundantly profitable. We were able to survey all 6 state capitals, as well as Lowell, and meet with 8 churches in the 4 weeks we were there. We are excited to work alongside so many wonderful churches in the New England area.

Virginia & Maryland. After leaving New England, we made our way back south to Viriginia, where we visited a church and met up with the Crown College Choir that was making a trip to New England for a circuit. We then went back to Maryland for a meeting in Hagerstown.

North Carolina. After our meeting in Maryland, we travelled to Shelby, NC, Naomi's stomping grounds, for a missions conference in the town, then a revival meeting at Faith Baptist Church of Shelby (where I "stole" Naomi from). At the revival meeting, we got to meet with many pastors in the area, so hopefully, we can get many meetings set in the near future.

Tennessee. We made our way back into Tennessee, but not quite back home just yet. We were able to be a part of the Temple Baptist Church missions conference in Powell, which is the church that started the Crown College, our alma mater. After leaving Powell, we made our way back to our sending church just in time to vote and be a part of our church's fall festival!

Support: 23%

Report. We've been taken care of and blessed by the many churches that we have been able to visit. Many churches have taken us on, especially in prayer, and many families have taken a particular interest in what we are doing and show us love and kindness. We are beyond grateful for all of the love we receive by so many. God has also used the past few weeks in our lives for some spiritual reinforcing. With two missions conferences and a revival back-to-back, I have not been preaching, and God has used the time to minister to us, and we have been fed. We are reinvigorated and ready to press on.

Support Update. I was astonished when I opened up this month's support list, showing a significant climb in financial support, from 17% to 23%. We are still excited about what God is doing, and we are happy that there are others excited with us, wanting to be a part of it, with prayer, physical help, and financial support. I am encouraged, and I hope that all of our supporting church families are, as well.

Upcoming. This week, we are back home because Naomi has mandatory jury duty, so pray that she is dismissed quickly. We will be in Alabama this coming Sunday, then we are back in town for a wedding the following weekend. After that, Thanksgiving. Our meetings have slowed down for the holidays, but we are staying busy with the ones we have and the ministries at church. Pray that our schedule in the coming year will fill up with meetings, and that our support continues to climb.

In Christ,

Andrew, Naomi, and Joseph Adams
